Mt dear Mb. Ruskin, Tou have given me very great pleasure by allowing me to inscribe this book to yon, and for two reasons; for I have two kinds of acknowledgment that I wish to make to you first, that of an intellectual debtor to a public teacher; secondly, that of a private Mend to the kindest of private friends. The tribute I have to offer you is, it is true, a small one; and it is possibly more blessed for me to give than it is for you to receive it. In so far, at least, as I represent any i Dfluence of yours, you nay very possibly not think me a satisfactory representative. But there is one fe.ct and I will lay all the stress I can on it which maizes me less diffident than I might be, in offering this book either to you or to the world generally. The import of the book is independent of the book itself, and of the author of it; nordo the arguments it contains stand or fall with my success in stating them; and these last at least I may associate with your name. They are not mine. I have not discovered or invented them. They are so obvious that anyone who chooses may see them; and I have been only moved to meddle with them, because, om being so obvious, it seems that no one will so much as deign to look at them, or at any rate to put them together with any care or completeness. They might be before everybodys eyes; but instead they are under everybodys feet. My occupation has been merely to kneel in the mud, and to pick up the truths that are being trampled into it, by a headstrong and uneducated generation!. With what success I have done this, it is not for me to judge. But though I cannot be confident of the value of what I have done, I am confident enough of the value of what I have tried to do. From a literary point of view many faults may be found with me.
